This board is completely assembled and tested. The only thing you need to do, is place and glue the four red rectangular led's in the head section, then connect the five different colored wires as shown in the wiring diagram below. Drill holes as explained in the video.

Next connect the three fiber optic strands as depicted below in the wiring diagram. Then solder the nine volt battery clip to board, connect battery and turn on the switch. Then watch the Cylon Centurion come to life with weapons blazing. Below is a pictorial diagram of how to wire up the Cylon Centurion.
